

In my opinion, Pastor Tang's yearly theology lectures are Taiwan's most important theological event. Because they continue year after year, they have a deeper and wider effect than one time events. Because they are rooted in historical Reformed theology, they bring us back to the theology (神論) of the Bible and the theology (神學) of the holy Catholic Church. In fact, many Christian's in Taiwan trace their understanding of Christianity to these lectures. My wife likes to tell this story. The first time she attended Pastor Tang's lectures, she was a first year theology student (at Dao Sheng). She hardly understood a word! But now, after sixteen years of listening, the lectures (and their importance) are clear to her. This is not so much because she has learned theology outside of the lectures. It is more because through these lectures she (and many others) have slowly come to understand theology, as well as the depth and beauty of the Christian Religion itself.
